MEDICINAL.

LOSS OF POWER and vital force follow loss of flesh, or emaciation. These come from impoverished blood. Dr. Fierro's Golden Medical Discovery enriches the blood, stops the waste of strength and tissue, and builds up healthy flesh. Nasty Cough Liver. Oils add fat, but not strength. Thin, pale, puny and scrofulous children are made plump, rosy and robust by the "Discovery." They like it, too. In recovering from "Cripples," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, or other wasting diseases, it speeds and surely invigorates and builds up the whole system. It works all the processes of digestion and nutrition, brings every organ into natural action, and restores back health and strength. It is a powerful cure, in every case, you have your money back.

It has cured others of Catarrh—thousands of them. Why not you? Dr. Fierro's Golden Medical Discovery is so positive, its makers offer a reward for an incurable case.

DENTISTRY.

IS IT WISE?

Is it wise to dismiss an uninvestigated statement by saying, "It isn't possible?" Is it fair? People sneered at Fulton, laughed at Morse, pushed Edison. They think that good dentistry is necessarily high-priced, but the ocean steamer is here, the telegraph and the phonograph, so is "scientific dentistry at moderate prices."

RAILROADS and the Aqueduct Bridge.

People who are interested in electric railroads, whether as capitalists or citizens anxious to secure needed facilities, will no doubt favor the proposition as it is stated in the bill recently introduced in the Senate by Mr. Gibson authorizing the reconstruction of the Aqueduct bridge so as to allow the laying of tracks for a street car line. There has been quite a movement of late years toward uniting the portions of Virginia contiguous to this city more intimately with the center of population that constitutes the capital city. This has not been entirely due to the speculative interests which are represented by those who have land to sell or would have it to sell in case such scheme was carried out, but it is believed to be the result of the legitimate demand for more room on the part of the city residents and for more rapid communication with the city on the part of those who have made their homes in this section of the suburb, but whose business is still in the city.

There has been a marked change during the past few years in that locality. Population has increased and property has not only been improved, but it has more of a standing in the market. A colony of Washingtonians of very respectable portions now live on the old farm lands in that vicinity, and the change in the appearance of the country is very apparent to any one knowing the past conditions who will take a trip through this region either by steam line or carriages.

It is said by those who favor electric railroads, and naturally everybody does who would like to lessen the time occupied daily in the trips to and from the city, that if an entrance into the city was secured that there is plenty of capital ready and waiting to be invested in electric railroads throughout the State of Virginia, and especially through those sections which are tributary to this city. Such an enterprise, however, does not seem to be promising enough in a financial way to include the erection of a bridge across the Potomac, and so assistance in this particular is looked for from the public purse. As the benefit is also to be shared by the public it is contended that such a request is justified.

Baltimore, Rockville, Sandy Spring and other distant points in the suburban region about this city are to be connected with this city by electric railroads. It is natural to suppose that places in Virginia no more remote will naturally come into closer relations with this great center of population, and that after all it is only a matter of time when the entire suburbs greatly grow beyond, not merely the lines of the District, but beyond the limits of what used to be considered by an extreme use of language, the suburbs of the city, will be joined to the capital city.

At a citizens' meeting in Georgetown on Thursday night last Mr. Geo. G. Boteler read a communication from Mr. J. E. Clements, representing the citizens of Falls Church and vicinity, asking that he request the West Washington organization to recommend favorably, and do all in their power to further the passage of the bill asking for the reconstruction of the Aqueduct bridge, and its adaptation for railroad purposes. The bill was introduced by Mr. Gibson of Maryland. Its passage would mean much to both Georgetown and Rosslyn.

The Norfolk and Western's bill asking for an entrance into town was brought forward also by Mr. Boteler. It met with the approval of the meeting, was endorsed, and its passage through both houses will be worked for.—Washington Star.

VIRGINIA: At rules held in the Clerk's Office of the Corporation Court of the city of Alexandria, Va., on the 6th day of February, 1894.

Albert Stuart, commissioner &c., vs. James Grigg and others. In chancery.

Memo: The object of this suit is to set aside and annul the deed from James Grigg and wife to Samuel A. Grigg, dated October 24, 1874, recorded in deed book No. 4, page 413, and subject the property conveyed to pay plaintiff's judgment.

The defendant, Samuel A. Grigg, not having entered his appearance and given security according to the act of Assembly and the rules of this Court, and it appearing by an affidavit that he is a non-resident of this State, it is ordered, that said defendant appear here within fifteen days after due publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit, and that a copy of this order be forthwith inserted in the Alexandria Gazette, a newspaper published in the city of Alexandria, once a week for four successive weeks, and posted at the front door of the Court House of this city.
